

3 Day Eventer has Olympic Size Dreams

Diana Burnett is no ordinary young woman. In fact it seems nothing short of the pinnacle of equestrian success will satisfy the 26 year old Blackstock Ontario native and Brooks Horse Feed supporter.

From an early age Diana had a burning passion for riding and a desire to challenge her abilities. Such desire led to lessons from former Canadian Olympic rider Kelly Plitz in 1993 and a career in eventing was born.

Since then Diana has trained several high level event horses including her current CCI mount named Manny and she has earned the respect and endorsement of her peers and coaches including Olympic Gold Medallist David O'Connor, Ontario Young Riders Coach Ian Roberts and Canadian Equestrian team coach James Cunningham Wofford.

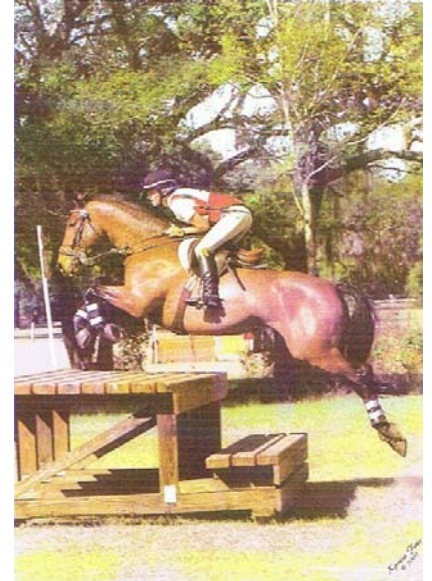

In 2007 Diana competed with several horses throughout North America from the preliminary levels to the CCI level. In addition she finds time to share her knowledge and passion by coaching other young riders.

Here are Diana's own words describing the thrill of eventing.

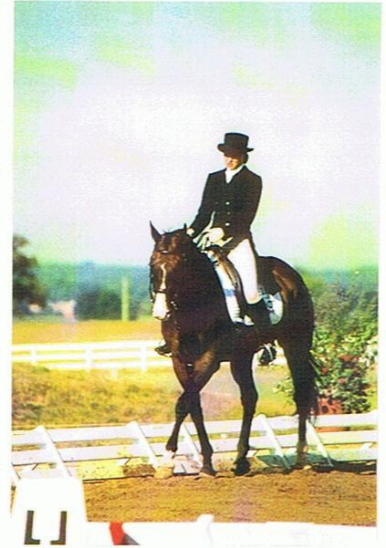

“Eventing is a wonderful sport that tests the skills and tenacity of both horse and rider. This great challenge is one of the main reasons I have and always will pursue a career in eventing. I enjoy the thrill of competing at the higher levels with my older more experienced horses just as much as I enjoy taking a young horse to their first show.. Eventing is like no other sport in that it involves a great bond between horse and rider. When I finish a competition it is an incredible feeling to know that my horse and I have communicated well and put our trust in each other.”

What's next for Diana Burnett? “I want to continue to compete at the CCI Three Star Level and begin as well at the Four Star Level representing Canada,” she points out.

With her ability and determination Diana has every possibility of fulfilling her ambitions. As a valued customer of Brooks Feed Store we salute her achievements and wish her continued success.

Diana Burnett is an aspiring young Canadian 3 Day Eventer and a valued customer of
Brooks Feed Store

“Eventing is a wonderful sport that tests the skills and tenacity of both horse and rider.”

Diana Burnett

www.brooksfeeds.com